

Despairing at the frustration of having no one to turn to? Had your life shattered by the word of other people and you cannot be represented in a 'proper' court of law to defend yourself? Have Social Workers lied to achieve their self-centered goals or to cover their ass? Gagging order? Gagged for what exactly, to protect the child? I don't think so, SS know they can hide behind them, they are anonymous grey people who go home to their sweet families at night leaving us to pick up the pieces with our lives in ruins ....that's about to change.

Yes I've been there, aside from actual physical violence against SS, and God knows I've considered that we have but one weapon, this weapon is more powerful than they can imagine, but what can have even more power than a social worker I hear you ask? Only the most powerful tool on the planet, I speak of the Internet, a medium with IMMENSE power.

I don't want to say anything about my own story as it makes me traceable and there is no doubt that the SS scum read this forum. What I want to do is get things more into the open. This board, hidden away, although it gets plenty of support in here isn't searched by the likes of Google etc. I think its time to go mainstream with naming some of these ba$tard$ who have and are getting away with legalised child abduction and so much more. Why is it that these people are not accountable for their errors? That must be a unique position to hold on this planet!

A blog site in New Zealand did the name and shame thing and it got a huge amount of publicity when "they" attempted to close it down, that's exactly what we want! You probably already know of it, the only reason it did get closed was because it contained a death threat, much as we would all like to do that, death would be too good for them, the slow painful global exposure surely is a much better route?

We all know how strapped they are for cash, we want every penny we can get out of them, and then some. For SS to take on the likes of Google, MySpace, WordPress, Bebo, FaceBook and dozens of other blog sites all with 10's of millions of registered users would be impossible for them to even contemplate, they are all separate entities and it would cost them an absolute fortune to even try to close a site on them, sounds good to me! Even the magistrate in New Zealand succumbed to the fact that the Internet is now a fact of life and they would have to get used to it.

If they do manage to close one, another will pop up... and another... and another I promise you! They won't like it and that's exactly what I want, I didn't particularly relish their treatment of me and my family.

I grant you that when people post on the name and shame sites they may well have nothing more to loose, but I would ask that if you are going to name names you don't make it easy for them to trace you, but that's entirely your decision.

Posts can be made anonymous, but if you are still paranoid and want to be totally anonymous then do a Google for "free proxy server" or use the likes of www.youhide.com www.turbohide.com and use it to enter the blog site you cannot be traced, full stop! Now WE become the grey people.

We CAN change things and I believe this is the way to do it, we can't hide away talking among ourselves and to outsiders who generally don't want to know, attempts have been futile thus far. I'm thankful that the likes of John Hemming MP and the journalist Camilla Cavendish who are getting things into the public domain trying to remove the veil of secrecy, a name and shame blog site will take things to a whole new level. I can't imagine what it will cost the country in "stress sick leave" for the poor Social Workers who get their comeuppance, I could almost feel sorry for them if they didn't poison my mind as they have done, and for that there is no price.

Don't let them get away with it, no longer can they hide behind the secret courts, tell of their wrong doings mention them by name, address photograph car reg number, I mean everything, let the world know who they are.

I will just add, if anyone would rather I placed their case on the websites just message me with the names and anything else you care to reveal about "them" and I will gladly do so.

This is the one thats up at the moment <http://nameshamesocialworkers.blogspot.com/>
